To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Simbarashe Godwin Matutu for the CSC master's scholarships.

I had the opportunity to serve as Simbarashe's supervisor during his bachelor's graduation project. His project was focused on the design and implementation of an online learning platform for international students. In the dire times of the COVID-19 pandemic most international students were displaced and could not return to the campus to attend classes. Simbarashe took it upon himself to find a solution to this problem. During the research, Simbarashe exhibited an extraordinary enthusiasm and attitude toward his academic work. To this day, I remain impressed with his selflessness, driven work ethic and ability to work under pressure.

Therefore, I believe Simbarashe is a great candidate for your scholarship program for he possesses the dedication and drive to meet and exceed your high standards.

Sincerely,

Masters' Study plan for Simbarashe Godwin Matutu

Dear Sir/Madam -

I still vividly remember around this time back in 2016 when I sat down to write my undergraduate study plan. In that study plan, I wrote about how I aspired to obtain knowledge that would help me understand how to effectively take advantage of technology in business circles. Now, five years down the line many things have changed. Amongst those things is how soon I would have managed to obtain a BSc degree in Computer science and technology. But, one thing has not changed and that is my dream of obtaining all the relevant knowledge that is necessary for helping business corporations exploit technology to the fullest capacity. Certainly, having a BSc degree in computer science is half the journey and I still have not arrived at the final destination. I still have a long way ahead of me. However, after extensive deliberations and enquiries with peers in the field, I have decided to pursue a master's degree in Management science and engineering at Beihang University.

My undergraduate graduate project is focused on the design and implementation of an online learning system that will be used by international students. The platform being developed should allow for all students to be able to attend classes from anywhere in the world. When I was about to get to my final year of undergraduate the COVID-19 pandemic began and most international students decided to return home. As a result, when normal learning classes restarted here in China it left most international student without the proper means of attending classes. Hence, I saw the need to develop a system that would alleviate this problem. It was during this graduate research that I had the eureka moment, I realised that to be able to deliver a product(software) one ought not only to have the technical skills of writing code but also ought to have management skills that would help in the planning, time management and implementation of the final product. It was at this moment I started to research more into this aspect that I found that there is an entire field of study dedicated to merging engineering skill and management. I went down that rabbit hole and realised that this was in exact accordance with the dream I always had since I was in high school. The dream of finding ways to fully exploit technology in business circles, thus am applying for the Masters in Management Science and Engineering. This program will allow me to combine my background in computer science with management skills thus allowing me to be able to see the bigger picture beyond just software development. It also provides me with opportunities to choose from a diverse set of specializations amongst which I have a particular interest in project management and operational research.

As we always say, “Study at Beihang, Light the dream”, I strongly believe there is no other place that has a more conducive environment to pursue my dream than Beihang University. Beihang has the best supportive learning environment to improve my research skills. Additionally, the department of management science and engineering at Beihang is highly competitive and has well-known professors and has research areas that are concise with my dream. These are the research areas of project management and operational research. And from over one hundred research papers that have been published by the faculty, it is beyond reasonable doubt that this department is a cut above the rest. Not to mention how the vibrant cultural environment of Beijing still pulls my heart especially the ancient architectural building and the Beijing opera performances.

Being awarded this scholarship will not only transform me intellectually but will also make me a better citizen of the world. If I can acquire this knowledge of applying engineering methods towards the management of business projects, I plan to return home to Zimbabwe. I understand the dire need for proper project planning we still in Zimbabwe, the lack of which has led to stunted growth. I would like to go back and help my country develop economically and lift our citizens out of poverty. In the long run with knowledge of Management science, I would like to continue researching methods that would make project implementation be in accordance with the goal for carbon neutrality by 2060.

To sum up, If I am awarded this scholarship, I promise to uphold the honour of my university and country as well as to enhance their image. I vow to abide by the school regulations and the laws of China. I am grateful for your consideration of my application and hopefully, I will be able to Study at Beihang to Light the dream.

Sincerely,

Signed: Matutu Simbarashe Godwin
